Dear Anwar

I am sorry to hear about all this. I know that girls are spoiled brats. I teach them and know all about it. Why don't you guys complain like girls do? You won't believe, the minute I give my students a quiz, they go to the administration and complain without even waiting for me to reach my office. They want to tell me how to grade, what to teach, how, what grades to give them... etc. I cannot even tell a joke in class as it would be misinterpreted. If you are going to graduate with the same degree like girls, they'd better treat you equally. Don't forget that girls are mosly taught by M.A. or B.A. holdres, whereas you guys are taught by Ph.D. holders. To make you feel better, I would like to tell you that I have been teaching for more than 15 years and have come across very few female students who can write as well as you do. No only that, very few females have a range of general knowledge comprable to yours. This is a testimony form a professor with high standards.

Few years ago, I served as an external examiner for an M.A. at UQU. Her thesis was lousy and I reuested that she makes corrections (linguistic and technical) before I sign the thesis report. They did not like that. They passed her and now she is in the Satates working on her doctorate. The same happened at KSU and King Faisal U. They just want to pass them effortlessly.

Never mind. All's well that ends well. It is only a stage and it will be all over soon. Now let's look a head and make plans for the future. Please let me know what courses you are taking.
