

In Montana

Prof. Reima Al-Jarf

I'm in Montana, by the Canadian border. I'm having a wonderful time. The tour is fascinating. Beautiful scenery. Something out of this world. Today we went to Glacier National Park. It was so beautiful. Green forests, rivers, lakes, waterfalls, wild life (mountain goats, black bears, elk, moose..), cool weather, blue skies and snow-capped mountains. I t snowed over those mountains yesterday and the road was closed. I took a helicopter flight over the park for half an hour. It was a bit cold on top of the mountain. I could open the plane's window and feel the cold air. Yesterday was the 4th of July (Independence Day) a national holiday here in the U.S.A. I watched the fireworks at night.

Tomorrow we go to another state, Idaho, for 3 days. The tour will be over July 11. I cannot believe I walked on the snow in the summer In Montana

July 5, 2001

I'm in Montana. Montana looks much better on the weather forecast than Florida. Don't miss it. Lakes, Rivers, greens woods and plains, waterfalls wild life, wild flowers everywhere, very cool weather especially at the top of snow-capped mountains where we've been today. I took a helicopter flight over Glacier National Park. It's fascinating. Something out of this world. I walked on the snow in the summer. Can you believe that? It snowed up there yesterday and the road was closed. Today is sunny with clear blue skies for me and the other tourists. I cannot believe I walked in the snow in the summer.