Choose, Post and Win Competition

May 4, 2014, Lab S18

The Bioinformatics Research Group (BioInG) is pleased to welcome you to the first Choose, Post and Win competition. The BioInG is an established research group at the College of Computer and Information Sciences (CCIS), King Saud University.

The aim of this competition is to promote the area of bioinformatics among faculty, researchers, and students. It is an opportunity to exchange ideas and to provide a forum to present the work of undergraduate and graduate students and faculty in bioinformatics and related areas. The competition is funded by: BioInG and the National Plan for Science and technology (NPST).

Who: Graduate and undergraduate students, lecturers and TAs are all invited to submit posters in Bioinformatics and relevant areas. Posters will be reviewed for relevance.

Choose a paper from the list or provide your own choice. Register (by March 26th). Please use the following link:
