Given this UML diagram of a Store System, implement all classes using Java. Then write the main class that tests the system.