Course Overview

As medical and surgical treatment modalities expand for the treatment of cancer, options for the woman with a gynecologic malignancy are evolving. The primary objective of this course is to provide current and updated information on the use of IP chemotherapy in advanced ovarian cancer and demonstrate technical aspects of use.

Target Audience

The intended audience for this course is physicians and other health care professionals involved in the diagnosis and treatment of preinvasive disease and gynecologic malignancies.

Educational Objectives

By the end of the conference, participants should be able:

• To understand the application of IP chemotherapy in the management of advanced ovarian cancer.

• To be familiar with the administration, monitoring and complications related to IP chemotherapy.

Course Design

This course is comprised of group workshops, lectures and discussions, encouraging exchange of ideas between faculty and participants.

Accreditation

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

CME Credit

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center designates this conference for a maximum of 5.5 hours in Category 1 credit towards the AMA Physician’s Recognition Award. Each physician should claim only those hours of credit he/she actually spent in the conference.

Disclosure Policy Statement

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC) relies upon faculty participants in its CME Program to provide educational information that is objective and is as free from bias as possible. In accordance with the nationally acceptable guidelines, faculty are asked to indicate any commercial relationship that might be perceived as a real or apparent conflict of interest.
