Münster, Germany, 12th December, 2013

Dear As. Professor Mohamed Farahat,

As the board of the Union of the European Phoniaticians (UEP) knows, you are working as an Associate Professor in the Communication and Swallowing Disorders Unit, ENT Department, and you are a member of the Research Chair of Voice, Swallowing, and Communication Disorders (RCVASD), King Saud University, Saudi Arabia.

About 2 years ago, RCVASD suggested December, 12th to celebrate as World Swallowing Day. This came after a lot of research worldwide, and you didn't find any institute that took this initiative. The idea came when your institute started to celebrate the famous World Voice Day for several years and after the response that you found, and due to the needed community awareness for the field of Swallowing disorders, you started to ask "Why not to announce for World Swallowing Day?" You celebrated this day already on 2011 and on 2012, and you are preparing now to celebrate it on 2013. Interestingly, you started to feel the effect of that day either at the level of health care providers (through referral of swallowing disorders cases to your clinics) or at the level of the community (patients started to seek medical advice at your swallowing disorders clinics).

Because of this successful history of the World Swallowing Day in Saudi Arabia, the board of the UEP, which is the umbrella for the worldwide phoniatic family, kindly asked you to become the International Coordinator of the World Swallowing Day. We are very proud and thankful that you as phoniatician and UEP member accepted this challenge.

UEP highly appreciates your enthusiasm to motivate colleagues to celebrate the WSD and to collect information about WSD activities for the UEP homepage and the UEP bulletin. Cordial thanks for your dedication.

With kindest regards, yours,

Prof. Antoinette am Zehnhoff-Dinnesen, President of UEP.

Subject: Letter of Appreciation

Dear Dr. Farahat,

Greetings!

The recently held Final Canadian Accreditation Survey was indeed a great success. We have accomplished what we wanted to show to the surveyors that we are one of the best departments in King Saud University which provides quality improvement and patients' safety.

In connection to this, my profound appreciation and gratitude for being part of the ENT Team for Canadian Accreditation. I would like to acknowledge your hard work which helps in the completion of the final survey. It was your enthusiasm, dedication and your untiring team support combined with our efforts led to the smooth conduct and success of this accreditation.

Please accept our sincere gratitude for the excellent job you had done in service of our department.

Congratulations!!!

Dr. MANAL BUKHARI
ENT Team Leader
