

Abdullah M. Al-Qarni

Email: Aalgarni1@ksu.edu.sa

BIOGRAPHY

I am a lecturer at the department of history at King Saud University and a member of Saudi historical society. I am specialised in contemporary history and politics of Middle East.

I am interested in the following research topics:

- Politics and History of Middle East.
- Conflict over the World.
- Global Hard warfare systems.
- War on terror.
- The Saudi- Chinese relations.
- Global Military warfare trade.

ACADEMIC QUALIFICATIONS

2011 – 2015: Bachelor of Arts (BA):

History and Islamic civilisation: Umm Al-Qura University, Saudi Arabia

2019-2020: Master of Science (MSc):

Middle Eastern studies and comparative politics: University of Exeter, United Kingdom.

EXPERIENCE

2017- Current: Lecturer of history

King Saud University, Saudi Arabia

Teaching:

- The Arabic modern and contemporary history.
- Contemporary global issues.
- The History of South and North of America.
- The History of First and the Second World War.
- The Modern European history.

ACHIEVEMENTS

2018: Attended an English academic course: Cardiff University.

2019: Attended three English academic courses: University of Exeter.